JUNIOR CHAMBER MUSIC

Biography

Junior Chamber Music (JCM) offers professional chamber music experiences to the youngest musicians who display all their great and unique talents: these are instrumentalists and vocalists between the ages of 9 and 20 coming from Southern California.

The program was founded in 2003 with the idea that the most effective and useful way to learn this subject is to experience music, along with all the wonderful emotions it can give, by carrying out a teamwork erected on the principles of sharing and comparing.

We live in a time when young people are constantly searching around them for elements to explore and to take inspiration from in order to give more and more shape and substance to their way of being and their position in the social context.

For this reason, chamber music identifies itself as an extremely strong and relevant tool that is able to offer the opportunity for the younger generations to establish dynamics of positivity capable of generating cohesion as well as conferring a broad potential for artistic exploration, creativity and expression.

JCM thus becomes a reflection of a union among the earliest generations generated by the common love nourished for the infinite melodies of music.
